I: INTRODUCTION

The tenth annual report to Congress on voting practices in the UN General Assembly and the Security Council in 1992 is submitted in compliance with Public Law 101-167. The report statistically measures voting records of UN member states individually, by geographical regions, and by selected bloc groupings, in comparison with the U.S. voting record. It also lists and describes important General Assembly resolutions and decisions adopted by the 47th General Assembly in the fall of 1992, as well as all Security Council resolutions for the entire year.

The 47th General Assembly admitted 13 new members in 1992, raising total UN membership to 179. The new members are nine former constituent republics of the Soviet Union: Armenia, Azerbaijan, Georgia, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Moldova, Tajikistan, Turkmenistan, and Uzbekistan; three former constituent republics of Yugoslavia: Bosnia and Herzegovina, Croatia, and Slovenia; and San Marino. The Secretary General was asked to canvass UN members for views on expansion and reform of the Security Council.

OVERVIEW

The year 1992, like 1991, was active and productive in both the General Assembly and the Security Council. The changes in Eastern Europe in 1991 continued to translate at the United Nations into ever closer cooperation between the United States and the countries of this region. These changes also continued to affect positively long-standing voting blocs and groupings which had built up during the Cold War. The result was a reconsideration by many UN members of their national and multilateral interests at the UN. U.S. working relations with developing country members were increasingly constructive.

The greater pragmatism and less unhelpful and divisive rhetoric in 1991 continued in 1992 and contributed to a continued improvement in UN atmospherics. Discussions, resolution texts, and debates on many issues were less strident and more nuanced than before. The "name calling" against the United States, which was so prevalent in earlier years, has virtually disappeared.

I - INTRODUCTION

This new environment increased the effectiveness and usefulness of the Security Council in fulfilling its primary responsibility for maintenance of international peace and security, as indicated by the new record high in number of resolutions adopted. In the General Assembly, there was a further decline in confrontation and contentious argument. The language of resolutions was generally more moderate and constructive.

The United States strongly supports consensus adoption of resolutions and decisions whenever feasible. It was particularly successful in this regard in the Security Council again in 1992, where 64 of the 74 resolutions (86%) were adopted by consensus, no negative votes were cast by any member on any resolution, and only 22 abstentions were cast out of the 1,110 votes on them. In the General Assembly, 73 percent of the resolutions were adopted by consensus. There was a small setback in the Fifth Committee, however. Whereas all Fifth Committee (administrative and budget) resolutions were adopted in plenary by consensus in the past three years, consistent with UN reform objectives established in 1986, a vote was necessary in 1992 on the scale of assessments.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY

The 47th session of the General Assembly opened on September 15 and held 94 plenary sessions (15 more than in 1991) before recessing on December 23. It adopted 276 resolutions, about the same as in 1991 (281), but a sharp drop from the 332 resolutions of 1990. Seventy-three percent (202) of the resolutions were adopted by consensus, about the same percentage figure as in the two previous years. Hence the positive trend that saw a 25 percent reduction in the total number of resolutions since the mid-1980s has levelled off.

The average overall voting coincidence of all UN members with the United States has increased steadily and dramatically in the General Assembly in the past three years. Standing at 16.9% in 1989, it jumped to 21.3 % in 1990, to 27.8% in 1991, and to 31.0% in 1992. The coincidence figure on votes considered important to U.S. interests is much higher, however (62.4%). And when consensus decisions are factored in as positive votes, a better measure of support for U.S. positions is reached. The total voting coincidence of 31.0% for all UN members combined is the highest since these reports were first compiled, for the 38th UNGA in 1983.

As in past years, Israel and the United Kingdom were among the highest in voting coincidence; Croatia moved into this group in 1992. Most members of the Western European and Others group (WEOG), in which the United States participates, again scored high. The Eastern European group also scored high again, collectively voting with the United States roughly fifty percent of the time. After registering great gains in 1991, following liberation from Soviet domination and the breakup of the Soviet Union, this group rose in 1992 to only a few points below Western Europe.

Although the overall increase in voting coincidence percentage worldwide for 1992 was only 3.2 percent, ten countries registered increases of at least 10 percentage points: Cape Verde, Congo, Dominican Republic, Malta, Mauritius, Micronesia, Russia (which succeeded the U.S.S.R.), Samoa, Solomon Islands, and Zaire. The ten lowest scoring countries (with scores of 15 percent or less) were: Cuba, Equatorial Guinea, Iraq, DPR of Korea, Laos, Libya, Myanmar, Sudan, Vietnam, and Yemen. The range of scores is somewhat narrower than in prior years, as many with high scores dropped somewhat and many low-scoring countries were more often in agreement with the United States.

The significant decline in 1991 in the number of plenary resolutions adopted was not repeated in 1992. Biennialization (or even triennialization) of some agenda items formerly considered annually, consolidation of other items, and the actual dropping from the agenda of still others no longer pertinent accounted for the earlier decline. Until there is further rationalization of arms control issues in the First Committee and significant progress is made in the Middle East peace process, meaningful further decline does not appear likely.

Among the successes achieved by the United States in the 47th UNGA, many after extensive and ongoing lobbying efforts, were:

- Adoption of a consensus resolution supporting the chemical weapons convention, with 144 cosponsors.
- Continued adherence to the principle of zero real growth in the UN budget.
- Adoption of a resolution enhancing and consolidating UN support for free and fair elections in member states. This resolution -- adopted by an overwhelming margin -- was the direct result of an initiative by President Bush in 1990.

I - INTRODUCTION

-- Adoption of resolutions drafted by the United States on the human rights situation in Cuba, Sudan, and the former Yugoslavia, and of strong resolutions on Iran, Iraq, and Burma (Myanmar), to which the United States contributed.

--Significant changes in the text of the resolution on the second decade to combat racism and racial discrimination, enabling the United States to join consensus on this resolution for the first time since the declaration by the General Assembly in 1975 that Zionism equals racism. This declaration was revoked in 1991.

--Adoption of a consensus resolution on withdrawal of foreign forces from the Baltic states. With U.S. encouragement, the parties worked out a consensus agreement and avoided a divisive floor vote.

--Adoption of the omnibus resolution on apartheid by consensus for the third straight year. This reinforces the 1989 declaration on apartheid that sent a signal to South Africa of African and Western resolve on this issue and helped to set in motion the restructuring of the social and political systems of South Africa.

--Rejection of the claim by the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) that it would automatically succeed to the seat of the former Yugoslavia in the United Nations and the refusal to allow its participation in the General Assembly session. This action deepened the FRY's isolation and increased the pressure on it to change its policies toward Bosnia and Croatia.

--Adoption of a resolution signalling the continued disgust of the international community with Serbian actions in Bosnia and the General Assembly's support for additional measures to restore peace. The United States worked with the cosponsors to ensure the text would not undermine the authority of the Security Council.

--Continued isolation of Iraq, as reflected in the adoption of the resolution on the IAEA report. The report contains language commending the IAEA for its activities in regard to destruction of weapons of mass destruction in Iraq, which was totally isolated in opposing this language.

--Adoption of a resolution on privatization calling for increased economic growth through structural reform and the creation of a viable private sector. The resolution stemmed directly from President Bush's speech at the General Assembly in September calling on the international community to support the free market reforms necessary for economic development in the developing world.

Adoption of the resolution bolsters the UN's reputation for responsiveness and relevance.

--Creation of the Commission on Sustainable Development to follow up on the UN Conference on Environment and Development.

--Deferral of one major contentious and unbalanced resolution on the Middle East (the omnibus resolution) and significant moderation of the polemical texts in three others (on the Golan Heights, an international peace conference, and the intifadah uprising). The General Assembly debate on Middle East issues somewhat better reflected the reality of the ongoing peace process. There was increasing acceptance of Israeli UN membership, and there was a non-confrontational deferral of the Israeli credentials issue.

--Adoption of a U.S.- drafted resolution on the System-Wide Action Plan on narcotic drugs, strengthening attention to drugs by the relevant UN agencies. -- Some diminution of bloc voting, with support from bloc members on issues of importance to the United States, and a growing opportunity to forge new alliances on particular issues.

Although in most areas the United States made considerable progress in 1992, we continued to confront problems in the General Assembly. Ideological polemics disguised as assistance resolutions remains a problem. There are still too many resolutions, and too many are poorly focused and not responsive to current world realities.

On several issues, problems remain. Discord continued on most nuclear-related items, including a comprehensive test-ban treaty, a limited test-ban treaty amendment conference, and a nuclear freeze. Other UN members did not share the U.S. view that nuclear testing was necessary to ensure the safety and effectiveness of our nuclear deterrent. A resolution on ending the U.S. embargo of Cuba was adopted despite U.S. efforts to convince others that the issue was best resolved in a bilateral setting. Fundamental policy differences put the United States at odds with a majority of UN members on Middle East issues. Despite moderation of the text of resolutions and a somewhat more favorable vote count, resolutions on the Middle East still do not fully reflect reality or make a positive contribution to the peace process. On international debt, the United States remains in virtual isolation. Despite our efforts, the General Assembly adopted a resolution that ignores ongoing efforts of competent technical bodies to address this issue. Only a few countries joined the United States in abstaining on the annual resolution calling for ratification of the convention on the Law of the Sea, the deep seabed mining provisions of which we consider fundamentally flawed.

I - INTRODUCTION

We face continued difficulties in reaching our goals on some UN reform issues. No direct action was taken on Secretariat reform nor toward implementing a policy of a unitary UN free of duplication of effort. Efforts to establish an inspector general office were unsuccessful.

SECURITY COUNCIL

A major focus of U.S. attention in the United Nations in 1992 continued to be the Security Council, a forum of extraordinary productivity for the third consecutive year. The Council adopted 74 resolutions in 1992, 64 of them unanimously. This total greatly exceeds the record number of resolutions (42) adopted in 1991, and marks only the third time in Council history that it has adopted as many as 30 resolutions.

In 1992, as in 1991, neither the United States nor any other Permanent Member of the Council exercised its veto right. Before 1991, the most recent year free of a U.S. veto was 1979, and the most recent year of no veto by any Permanent Member was 1978. In 1992, no negative votes were cast on any of the 74 resolutions, and abstentions were rare.

The Security Council was heavily involved in peacekeeping and peace-making throughout the world in 1992, principally in Yugoslavia, the Middle East, Africa, and Cambodia. There are now 13 active peacekeeping operations. The Council also commissioned the Secretary General to present a plan for enhancing the UN's capacity for preventive diplomacy, peace-making, and peacekeeping.

Voting coincidence percentages for Security Council members were uniformly 100 percent. Eight members -- Austria, Belgium, France, Hungary, Japan, Russia, United Kingdom, and Venezuela -- voted with the United States on all 74 resolutions. No Council members voted against any resolution. Abstentions were rare: China, 9 times; Zimbabwe, 6; India, 4; and Cape Verde, Ecuador, and Morocco, 1 each. Most abstentions were on resolutions concerning Yugoslavia.

FORMAT AND METHODOLOGY

The 1992 voting report is unchanged in format from last year's report, and its presentation is consistent with provisions of PL 101-167. Similarly, the methodology employed is the same since the report's inception.

The tables which follow in this report provide a measurement of UN member country performance. However, readers are again cautioned about interpreting voting coincidence percentages. These percentages are calculated using only votes on which both the United States and the other country in question voted Yes or No; not included are those instances when either abstained or was absent. Abstentions and absences are often difficult to interpret, but they make a mathematical difference, sometimes major, in the percentage results. Inclusion of the number of abstentions and absences in the tables of this report enables readers to use them to calculate voting coincidence percentages if they wish to do so. The content of resolutions should also be considered. There may be overwhelming agreement with the U.S. position on a matter of less importance to us and less support on a resolution we consider more important.

In recent years, in response to concerns expressed inside and outside the U. S. Government, the report has been expanded to measure General Assembly votes in three different ways. Section II on overall votes provides information parallel with all previous editions of the report. Section III on important votes was introduced in its present form in the report on the 44th UNGA. Section IV on consensus resolutions and decisions was also introduced in that report, to take into account the many areas of agreement on issues between the United States and other UN members. Consensus resolutions have grown to constitute nearly three-fourths of all resolutions adopted, which indicates the significance of this section. When consensus decisions are counted as positive votes, the voting coincidence with the United States increases substantially.

A country's voting record in the United Nations is only one dimension of its relations with the United States. Bilateral economic, strategic and political issues are often more directly important to U.S. interests. Nevertheless, a country's behavior at the UN is always relevant to its bilateral relationship with the United States, a point the Secretary of State routinely makes in his letters of instruction to new U.S. ambassadors. This is also why copies of this report are presented to UN member foreign ministries throughout the world, and to observer state missions in New York. The Security Council and the General Assembly are arguably the most important international bodies in the world, dealing as they do with such vital issues as threats to peace and security, disarmament, development, humanitarian relief, human rights, the environment and narcotics -- all of which can and do directly affect major U.S. interests.

II: GENERAL ASSEMBLY -- OVERALL VOTES

There were 88 recorded plenary votes at the 47th UNGA -- 74 on resolutions as a whole, 10 on separate paragraphs, and four on decisions. Of these 88 votes, the United States voted Yes 20 times and No 53 times; it abstained on 14 votes and did not participate on one.

COMPARISON WITH U.S. VOTE

The tables which follow are based on the 73 instances the United States voted either Yes or No in plenary. Columns show the number of times the United States and the country listed cast identical (Yes/Yes or No/No) and opposite (Yes/No or No/Yes) votes, as well as the number of times the country abstained and was absent for these 73 votes. The voting coincidence percentages are derived by dividing the number of identical votes by the total of identical and opposite votes, the same method used in all previous editions of this report.

Section II has four parts. The first lists UN member states both alphabetically and in rank order by voting coincidence percentage. The second lists them by UN regional grouping, in rank order by voting coincidence percentage. The third lists countries by other important groupings, again in rank order. The final part compares 1992 voting coincidence percentages of UN members with the preceding five years.

Countries with an asterisk in the Voting Coincidence column did not vote during the session. Under Article 19 of the UN Charter, Cambodia did not vote at the 47th UNGA because its financial contributions were in arrears. In the first vote of the 47th UNGA, the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia was denied permission to participate further in Assembly proceedings until it applied for and was granted readmission. South Africa has not voted since the 28th UNGA in 1973.

The United States once again voted No in plenary more often than any other UN member. It voted No alone in plenary eight times at the 47th UNGA (as compared with only five times at the 46th UNGA, but nine times at the 45th and 20 times at the 44th). The United States voted with only one other country on 21 occasions (Israel, 13 times; the United Kingdom, 7; and Latvia, 1). Eight times it voted No with two other countries, once with three others, seven times with 4-19, and eight times with 20-44. The U.S. votes in isolation were largely on arms control issues. Votes with Israel were on issues regarding the Middle East, Palestine, and the occupied territories. Those with the United Kingdom and France were on arms control and decolonization issues.

II - OVERALL VOTES

III. GENERAL ASSEMBLY -- IMPORTANT VOTES

PL 101-167 calls for analysis and discussion of "all such votes on issues which directly affected important United States interests and on which the United States lobbied extensively." For the 47th General Assembly in 1992, 16 votes were judged as meeting these criteria.

Section III consists of four parts: a listing and description of the 16 important votes at the 47th UNGA; voting coincidence percentages with the United States on these important votes, arranged both alphabetically by country and in rank order of agreed votes; voting coincidence percentages by UN regional groupings and other important groupings; and a comparison of important with overall voting coincidence percentages from Section II.

LISTING AND DESCRIPTION

The following 16 important votes are identified by a short title, document number, date of vote, and results (Yes-No-Abstain), with the U.S. vote noted. The first paragraph summarizes the subject matter of each vote, and the second provides background and the U.S. position. The resolutions are listed in chronological order of adoption.

1. Yugoslavia: UN Membership

A/Res/47/1

September 22

127(US)-6-26

Considers that the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) cannot automatically continue the UN membership of the former Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia, decides that it should apply for membership, and decides that it shall not participate in the work of the General Assembly.

The United States, in support of this resolution, argued that the claim of the FRY to the UN seat of the former Yugoslavia could not be accepted because Serbia and Montenegro did not comprise such a clearly predominant portion of the original state as to be entitled to be treated as the continuation of that state, and there had been no agreement among the former republics on this issue. Adoption of this resolution serves to deepen the FRY's isolation and increase pressure on it to change its policies toward Croatia and Bosnia and Herzegovina.

III - IMPORTANT VOTES

2. IAEA Report

A/Res/47/8

October 22

146(US)-0-5

Affirms confidence in IAEA's role on the application of nuclear energy for peaceful purposes and commends the Director General and staff for their efforts in implementation of certain Security Council resolutions, in particular the detection and destruction or otherwise rendering harmless of equipment and material in Iraq that could be used for nuclear weapons. A preambular paragraph notes IAEA actions concerning Iraq's non-compliance with its non-proliferation obligations.

The United States traditionally supports this resolution endorsing IAEA efforts to promote the peaceful use of atomic energy. It also supported inclusion of the paragraphs commending the IAEA for its work in responding to Iraq's violations of non-proliferation obligations and in implementing Security Council resolutions aimed at destruction of Iraq's ability to develop or produce nuclear weapons.

3. U.S. Embargo of Cuba

A/Res/47/19

November 24

59-3(US)-71

Calls on states to refrain from promulgating and applying laws and measures whose extra-territorial effects affect the sovereignty of other states and the legitimate interests of entities or persons under their jurisdiction and the freedom of trade and navigation; and urges states to repeal such laws.

This resolution, sponsored by Cuba, is aimed at blocking efforts to extend the effects of the U.S. embargo against Cuba. The U.S. voted against the resolution, maintaining that the UN General Assembly is not the forum to address the essentially bilateral issue of the embargo and the Cuban Democracy Act's ban on trade by U.S. subsidiaries. Israel and Romania joined in opposition.

4. Comprehensive Nuclear-Test-Ban Treaty

A/Res/47/47

December 9

159-1(US)-4

Urges states to achieve discontinuance of all nuclear-test explosions and agree to interim measures; reaffirms the Conference on Disarmament's responsibilities for negotiating a comprehensive nuclear-test-ban treaty; and urges reestablishment of the Ad Hoc Committee on a Nuclear-Test Ban.

The United States opposed this resolution because it contains language inconsistent with U.S. policy on nuclear testing and deterrence. Despite the dramatic reduction in the need for nuclear testing over the last several years, it is the U.S. view that a modest need -- to evaluate and improve the safety of its much smaller nuclear deterrent and to maintain the reliability of U.S. nuclear forces -- remains at present and is likely to continue into the future as long as a modest, stabilizing deterrent is required.

5. Maintenance of International Security

A/Res/47/60B

December 9

79(US)-0-84

Decides to continue consideration of the question of maintenance of international security, taking account of new international realities and new tasks before the UN to strengthen collective efforts; invites member states' views.

The United States cosponsored this Russian/United Kingdom resolution as an alternative to the one introduced by the Non-Aligned Movement. The latter called for renunciation of strategic doctrines based on use of nuclear weapons and for their elimination.

6. Middle East - Golan Heights

A/Res/47/63A

December 11

72-3(US)-70

Declares that Israel's decision to impose its laws, jurisdiction, and administration to the occupied Syrian Golan is illegal, null, and void; and demands that Israel withdraw from the occupied Syrian Golan.

The United States voted against this resolution because it prejudgets the outcome of negotiations under way between the parties. Israel and Micronesia also voted No.

7. Palestine - International Peace Conference

A/Res/47/64D

December 11

93-4(US)-60

Inter alia, considers convening an international peace conference on the Middle East, under UN auspices, including participation of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

III - IMPORTANT VOTES

The United States voted against this resolution because, despite improvement over resolutions adopted in past years, it remains flawed in two important aspects. It contains language that seeks to determine the outcome of issues under discussion by the parties to the peace process and must be resolved through direct negotiations between them. And it refers specifically to the format and participants of an international peace conference, these being questions that properly belong in the hands of the governments and peoples of the region. Israel, the Marshall Islands, and Micronesia joined in opposition.

8. UNRWA

A/Res/47/69A

December 14

136(US)-0-2

Notes that the situation of the Palestinian refugees continues to be a matter of serious concern; thanks the Commission of UNRWA for doing all it can within its available resources; notes the continuing seriousness of the UNRWA financial position; and decides to continue the mandate of UNRWA to June 30, 1996.

As the largest contributor to UNRWA (United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East), the United States strongly supports UNRWA programs of education, health, and relief services to over two million Palestinian refugees, and it traditionally sponsors this resolution. The United States commended UNRWA's continued attention to the emergency needs of refugees displaced by the conflict in the Gulf as well as those affected by violence in Lebanon and by unrest in the occupied territories. The U.S. urged strong financial support. Israel abstained on the vote.

9. Israeli Practices

A/Res/47/70A

December 14

83-5(US)-55

Inter alia, condemns Israeli violations of the Geneva Convention relative to Protection of Civilian Persons in Time of War, Israeli policies of collective punishment, imposition of Israeli laws to the occupied Syrian Golan, repression against educational institutions, and arming of Israeli settlers in the occupied territories; reaffirms the temporary nature of Israeli military occupation of Palestinian territory; reaffirms that Israeli settlements in the occupied territories are a violation of UN resolutions; and calls upon Israel to return all displaced Arab and Palestinian inhabitants to their places of residence in the territories occupied by Israel since 1967.

The United States attempted to have consideration of this resolution deferred so its usual highly condemnatory language about Israel would not interfere with the ongoing Middle East peace talks. While the resolution was not deferred, its language was substantially moderated. Nevertheless, the United States opposed it because it retains outmoded rhetoric and does not adopt a constructive approach at a time when the parties are engaged in direct negotiations on these issues.

10. Situation in Bosnia and Herzegovina

A/Res/47/121

December 18

102(US)-0-57

Strongly condemns Serbia, Montenegro, and Serbian forces in the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina for violation of its sovereignty, territorial integrity, and political independence, and non-compliance with Security Council and General Assembly resolutions and the London Peace Accords, and demands immediate cessation of aggressive acts and hostility; urges the Security Council to consider actions under Chapter VII of the UN Charter and establishment of an international war crimes tribunal.

The United States supported this resolution to signal continuing strong condemnation of actions in Bosnia and Herzegovina by the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia, and to indicate willingness to consider additional measures to restore peace.

11. Periodic and Genuine Elections

A/Res/47/138

December 18

141(US)-0-20

Welcomes the Secretary General's decision to establish a focal point for electoral verification and assistance and to establish an Electoral Assistance Unit in the Secretariat; and commends the UN for providing electoral assistance to member countries at their request.

The United States introduced this resolution, with over 40 cosponsors, to consolidate the progress achieved in this area since the U.S. initiative on elections in 1989, which was strongly endorsed by President Bush in his 1990 address to the General Assembly. It enhances the organizational structure for UN assistance, but retains full respect for national sovereignty.

12. Human Rights in Cuba

A/Res/47/139

December 18

69(US)-18-64

Calls on Cuba to cooperate with the UN Human Rights Commission's Special Rapporteur on Cuba by allowing him to establish contact with the government and citizens of Cuba, and to cease persecution and punishment of citizens for reasons related to freedom of expression and peaceful association.

Continuing its effort since the mid-1980s to focus international attention on human rights abuses in Cuba, the United States introduced this resolution to reflect abuses cited in the Special Rapporteur's report, urge Cuban cooperation, and express strong support for continued investigations by the Special Rapporteur.

13. Human Rights in Sudan

A/Res/47/142

December 18

104(US)-8-33

Expresses deep concern at the serious human rights violations in Sudan, including summary executions, detentions without due process, forced displacement of persons, and torture; urges Sudan to respect human rights and comply with applicable human rights instruments; and calls on Sudan to ensure that killings of Sudanese national employees of foreign government relief organizations are thoroughly investigated.

The United States introduced this resolution, with over 30 cosponsors, to direct international attention to the dimensions of the human rights problems there and to provide pressure for improvement.

14. Human Rights in Iraq

A/Res/47/145

December 18

126(US)-2-26

Expresses strong condemnation of massive violations of human rights, including summary and arbitrary executions, systematic torture, and enforced or involuntary disappearances; and expresses special alarm at repressive policies and practices against the Kurds and the resurgence of grave violations against Shiah communities, especially in southern Iraq.

The United States cosponsored this European Community resolution to call international attention to human rights violations in Iraq and to support strong condemnation of Iraq until it exhibits compelling evidence of great improvement in its human rights situation. Iraq and Sudan voted against the resolution.

15. Human Rights in Iran

A/Res/47/146

December 18

86(US)-16-38

Expresses concern at the main criticisms made by the Special Representative of the Human Rights Commission, including the high number of executions, the practice of torture, the treatment of the Baha'i community, and restrictions on freedom of expression, thought, opinion, and the press; and calls on Iran to investigate and rectify the human rights issues raised by the Special Representative.

The United States cosponsored this European Community resolution to highlight concern about Iran's continued and massive violations of basic human rights, including arrests, summary trials and executions, other forms of intimidation carried out by the security forces, and persecution of the Baha'i community.

16. External Debt Problems and Development

A/Res/47/198

December 22

158-1(US)-0

Welcomes several agreements on debt-service reduction, declarations recognizing debt problems, and write-off of significant bilateral debt by certain donors to least developed countries; stresses the need for further reduction of developing country debt; emphasizes the continued need for developing countries to promote a favorable investment environment; reiterates the need for new financial flows to debtor developing countries; urges innovative measures by the international community and private creditors; and asks for early implementation of enhanced Paris Club terms.

The United States voted against the resolution because it does not adequately reflect the substantial progress made under the international debt strategy, and oversteps its bounds by urging additional debt reduction measures more appropriately handled by the World Bank, the IMF, and the Paris Club.

COMPARISON WITH U.S. VOTES

The tables which follow summarize UN member performance at the 47th UNGA in comparison with the United States on the 16 important votes. In these tables, "Identical Votes" is the total number of times the United States and the listed state both voted Yes or No on these issues. "Opposite Votes" is the total number of times the United States voted Yes and the listed state No, or the United States voted No and the listed state Yes. "Abstentions" and "Absences" are totals for the country being compared on these 16 votes. "Voting Coincidence" is calculated by dividing the number of identical votes by the total of identical and opposite votes.

The first table lists all UN member states in alphabetical order. The second lists them by identical votes in descending order; those states with the same number of identical votes are further ranked by the number of opposite votes in ascending order. Subsequent tables are comparisons of UN members by regional and other groupings to which they belong, again ranked in descending order of identical votes.

IV: GENERAL ASSEMBLY -- CONSENSUS ACTIONS

Of the 276 resolutions adopted by the 47th UNGA in 1992, 202 (73.1%) were by consensus. In addition, 63 of 67 decisions were adopted by consensus. Combining resolutions and decisions, the percentage of those adopted by consensus exceeds 77%. This figure has remained roughly the same for the past three years. In all the earlier years since these reports have been compiled, the number of consensus agreements was significantly less. The total number of plenary votes -- on resolutions, decisions, paragraph votes and motions -- is considerably below earlier numbers, but appears to have reached a plateau. The number of plenary votes on resolutions and decisions is only half the total five years earlier at the 42nd UNGA.

The following table illustrates these developments:

Resolutions and Decisions

UNGA	Votes	Consensus	Total	Percentage Coincidence
47th .....	78	265	343	77.3%
46th .....	76	272	348	78.2%
45th .....	90	297	387	76.7%
44th .....	119	272	391	69.6%
43rd .....	138	245	383	64.0%
42nd .....	154	224	378	60.6%

The important resolutions listed and discussed below were achieved by consensus at the 47th UNGA. All were selected on the same basis used in determining important votes discussed in Section III above, i.e., they were "issues which directly affected United States interests and on which the United States lobbied intensively."

This section has two parts. The first lists and describes the 14 important consensus resolutions adopted at the 47th UNGA. The second statistically incorporates these important consensus resolutions with important votes at the 47th UNGA to provide a different perspective on the degree of support for U.S. positions at the United Nations.

IMPORTANT CONSENSUS RESOLUTIONS

The following 14 consensus agreements are identified by shortened titles. Each listing provides the resolution number, date of adoption, a summary description, and an explanation of the U.S. position.

1. International Day of Disabled Persons

A/Res/47/3 October 14

Invites all UN members to intensify their efforts aimed at sustained effective action toward improving the situation of persons with disabilities; and proclaims December 3 as the International Day of Disabled Persons.

The United States considers the issue of persons with disabilities one of the most important in the UN social area. This resolution serves to continue UN activities in this field and to focus programs on substantive efforts.

2. Withdrawal of Foreign Forces from the Baltics

A/Res/47/21 November 25

Expresses support for removal of foreign military forces from Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania; calls upon the states concerned, in line with basic principles of international law and in order to prevent any possible conflict, to conclude, without delay, appropriate agreements, including timetables, for withdrawal.

The United States supports early withdrawal of forces and urged the parties to draft a consensus resolution that would permit an agreeable, non-contentious solution to this problem.

3. International Criminal Court

A/Res/47/33 November 25

Recommends that the International Law Commission continue its work on this topic; invites states' comments on the question of international criminal jurisdiction.

diction; and requests that the Commission undertake the project for elaboration of a statute for an International Criminal Court.

The United States was able to join consensus on this resolution because it sets up a staged approach to a statute for an international criminal court, which includes completion of current work on the topic and consideration of states' comments before the statute is drafted.

4. Protection of the Environment During Armed Conflict

A/Res/47/37 November 25

November 25

Urges states to comply with existing international law applicable to protection of the environment in times of armed conflict.

Jordan initiated this agenda item after the Gulf War. The United States was able to support the resolution after changes were made to eliminate the threat to existing provisions of the law of war concerning the environment. Moreover, consideration of this topic as a separate agenda item was concluded, in line with U.S. views.

5. Chemical Weapons Convention

A/Res/47/39 November 30

November 30

Commends the Chemical Weapons Convention; calls upon all states to sign and become parties to the Convention and implement it; and requests that the Secretary General and signatory states initiate the work of the preparatory commission for the organization on the prohibition of chemical weapons.

This resolution was of top priority to the United States, which considers a global, verifiable ban on chemical weapons a major arms control objective. The resolution was cosponsored by more than 140 UN member countries.

6. Improvement of the Status of Women in the UN Secretariat

A/Res/47/93 December 16

December 16

Urges the Secretary General to give greater priority to recruitment and promotion of women, particularly in senior policy-level and decision-making posts, in order to reach the goal of 35 per cent by 1995; and encourages states to nominate more women candidates.

The United States cosponsored this resolution, which follows up on U.S. resolutions first introduced in 1988. It serves as a reminder that the United States and other UN members wish to move ahead on increasing the number of women employed in the UN system, particularly in senior positions.

7. International Action to Combat Narcotic Drugs

A/Res/47/100 December 16

December 16

Calls upon UN agencies to establish agency specific implementing plans for activities in narcotics control and provides for updating the System-Wide Action Plan on drug abuse control.

Drafted and introduced by the United States, this resolution furthers the U.S. goal of improving UN coordination of its activities in this area.

8. Apartheid (omnibus resolution)

A/Res/47/116A December 18

December 18

Reaffirms support for eradication of apartheid through peaceful means and establishment of a non-racial, democratic South Africa; urges the South African authorities to bring to an end the ongoing violence; calls for removal of obstacles to free political activity; urges the people of South Africa to resume negotiations on a new democratic and non-racial constitution; and urges the international community to observe the arms embargo, increase humanitarian and legal assistance to victims of apartheid, and aid front-line states in economic recovery.

The United States was able again in 1992 to join consensus on the omnibus apartheid resolution, which reflects realistically both the problems and the promise in South Africa and should encourage the negotiating process leading to a democratic, non-racial government in South Africa.

9. Human Rights in Myanmar (Burma)

A/Res/47/144

December 18

Regrets the failure of the Government of Myanmar to respect the outcome of the 1990 democratic election and urges it to allow all citizens to participate freely in the political process, to accelerate the process of transition to democracy, and to ensure full respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms, including the protection of ethnic minorities; expresses concern at the continued seriousness of the human rights situation in Myanmar; deeply regrets that many political leaders are still deprived of their freedom; and calls upon the Government of Myanmar to ensure an end to the flow of refugees and to facilitate their repatriation.

The United States cosponsored this resolution and worked to prevent any weakening of the text. The resolution maintains pressure on the Government of Burma to improve its human rights situation.

10. Human Rights in the Former Yugoslavia

A/Res/47/147

December 18

Expresses grave concern at violations of human rights in Bosnia and Herzegovina, Croatia, and the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia; condemns the abhorrent practice of "ethnic cleansing" and indiscriminate shelling of cities and civilian areas; reaffirms that perpetrators of crimes against humanity and other grave breaches of humanitarian rights are individually responsible; and condemns in particular those violations in connection with detention, including killings, torture, and the systematic practice of rape.

This U.S.- drafted resolution, with over 50 cosponsors, advanced the important U.S. policy of pressing the former Yugoslavia to cease its human rights violations.

11. Strengthening Coordination of UN Humanitarian Emergency Aid

A/Res/47/168

December 22

Emphasizes the leadership role of the Secretary General in ensuring rapid and coordinated response of the UN system to humanitarian emergencies; invites increased resources; seeks annual review by the Secretary General of the effectiveness of the new institutional arrangements for humanitarian assistance; and asks

IV - CONSENSUS

the Secretary General to report on ways to improve prevention and preparedness in relation to natural disasters, including regional warehousing of supplies.

The United States supported this effort to improve the UN's capacity to coordinate the response to humanitarian emergencies. In joining consensus, the United States reiterated its concerns regarding the safety and security of personnel from non-governmental organizations, and called for prioritization of emergency activity to prevent overtaxing of resources.

12. Privatization

A/Res/47/171 December 22

Welcomes activities of UN organizations and bodies in supporting national efforts to increase economic efficiency, growth, and sustainable development through privatization, demonopolization, and administrative deregulation of economic activities; and urges them to continue this support when requested.

This U.S.- sponsored resolution was based on President Bush's call to the international community in his General Assembly speech to support free market reforms and creation of a viable private sector. It gained over 40 cosponsors.

13. UNCED Follow-up

A/Res/47/191 December 22

Endorses the recommendations on international institutional arrangements to follow up the UN Conference on Environment and Development (UNCED) contained in Agenda 21, particularly those on the establishment of a high-level Commission on Sustainable Development.

The United States supported this resolution establishing the Commission on Sustainable Development (CSD). The resolution retains consensus guidelines for operation acceptable to the United States, retains the U.S.- supported emphasis on monitoring sustainable development instead of primarily on encouraging financial flows to developing countries, and establishes a procedure to organize the CSD.

14. Program Budget for 1994-1995

A/Res/47/212

December 23

Invites the Secretary General to prepare the proposed program budget for 1994-1995 on the basis of estimates of $2.386 billion and a contingency fund of 0.75 per cent of the budget.

The United States was able to join consensus on this resolution, which maintains the principle of zero real growth.

COINCIDENCE PERCENTAGES WITH CONSENSUS

Tables below consolidate statistically the 16 important votes, discussed in Section III, with the 14 important consensus agreements above. They are meant to provide another perspective on cooperation between the United States and UN member states on important issues at the 47th UNGA. Since not all states are equally active at the UN, refined coincidence percentages are also provided for the number of consensus agreements credited to a state based on its participation in all UN voting overall.

What the four columns of figures represent:

-- Voting coincidence. The percentage obtained when each UN member's record on important votes is combined with full credit for participating in all 14 important consensus resolutions. Countries with large numbers of absences score low in this table because they get little credit on the 14 consensus resolutions. Of those countries not frequently absent, low scorers were: China, 61.4%; Cuba, 61.8%; Ghana, 63.1%; Iraq, 52.8%; DPR Korea, 59.4%; Laos, 63.5%; Libya, 63.7%; Myanmar, 62.1%; Sudan, 61.2%; Syria, 64.3%; Tanzania, 64.2%; Uganda, 58.3%; and Vietnam, 64.0%.

-- Absences. The number of times a country did not participate in the 88 recorded plenary votes. Countries most frequently absent for votes were Equatorial Guinea, 81 times; Kyrgyzstan, 71; Turkmenistan, 71; Tajikistan, 61; Solomon Islands, 58; Seychelles, 52; Zaire, 52; Armenia, 48; Croatia, 47; San Marino, 47; Dominican Republic, 44; Albania, 43; Congo, 43; and Bosnia and Herzegovina, 40. (Cambodia, Georgia, Somalia, South Africa, and Uzbekistan did not participate.

IV - CONSENSUS

Yugoslavia, in the first plenary vote, was denied permission to participate further in the General Assembly session.)

-- Participation Rate. Calculated by dividing the number of Yes/No/Abstain votes cast by a UN member in plenary (i.e., the number of times it was not absent) by the total of plenary votes.

-- Adjusted Coincidence. This modifies the voting coincidence percentages in column one by applying the "Participation Rate" to consensus agreements. For example, if a UN member state were absent for 10 of the 88 votes in 1992, it would be given credit for only 88.6% (12.4) consensus resolutions rather than 14. Scores in this column extend from Israel, at 95.7%, to Equatorial Guinea at 7.4%.

The first table is organized alphabetically by country, and the second by rank order of Adjusted Coincidence.

V: SECURITY COUNCIL

In addition to the five Permanent Members -- China, France, Russia, the United Kingdom and the United States -- the Security Council in 1992 was composed of Austria, Belgium, Cape Verde, Ecuador, Hungary, India, Japan, Morocco, Venezuela and Zimbabwe. The following table summarizes the results of the Security Council for the year, and compares them with the previous five years.

Year	Meetings	Resolutions Considered	Resolutions Adopted	U.S. Vetoes
1992	129	74	74	0
1991	53	42	42	0
1990	69	40	37	2
1989	69	25	20	5
1988	55	26	20	6
1987	49	15	13	2

The Security Council, in a veto-free post-Cold War world, was much more active. It met more times, adopted more resolutions, and issued more presidential statements. It met 129 times in formal session in 1992, and every one of these was preceded by informal, often extensive, consultations. Of these, 26 meetings were devoted to admission of 13 new members, largely from the former Soviet Union and the former Yugoslavia. The remaining meetings were principally on the former Yugoslavia, 35; Iraq, 9; Israel and the occupied territories, 8; Angola, 8; Cambodia, 7; Somalia, 6; and Cyprus, 6. From one to three meetings each were used to discuss the Secretary General's Agenda for Peace, Central America, Cuba, South Africa, Mozambique, Libya, Liberia, the former Soviet republics of Georgia and Tajikistan, and Nagorno-Karabakh.

The former Yugoslavia occupied much of the Council's time in 1992, on which it adopted 23 resolutions. The Council authorized the dispatch of military liaison officers to the former Yugoslavia to promote maintenance of a ceasefire, established a protection force (UNPROFOR) to create the conditions of peace and security required for negotiations for a political settlement, demanded a ceasefire, and welcomed efforts undertaken by the European Community. It established a comprehensive trade embargo against the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia and enlarged the mandate and strength of UNPROFOR. It demanded unimpeded and continued access to detention camps and prisons and demanded that detainees receive humane treatment. The Council condemned the practice of "ethnic cleansing" and enlarged UNPROFOR's mandate to include protection of convoys of released detainees. The Council recommended that the General Assembly make a determination that the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia could not continue automatically the membership of the former Yugoslavia in the United Nations, that it should apply for membership in the UN, and that it could not participate in the work of the General Assembly. The Council authorized the use of "all necessary measures" to deliver humanitarian aid throughout Bosnia and decided to establish a Commission of Experts to examine and analyze information about grave breaches of the Geneva Conventions and international humanitarian law. The Council established a ban on military flights in the airspace of Bosnia and Herzegovina, called upon parties in Bosnia and Herzegovina to consider the draft outline constitution as a basis for negotiating a political settlement, affirmed that taking of territory by force or "ethnic cleansing" is unacceptable, insisted displaced persons be enabled to return in peace, and called upon riparian states to ensure that shipping on the Danube not violate the embargo. It established an UNPROFOR presence in the former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia. And it expressed support for the dispatch of a delegation by the European Council to investigate reports of systematic detention and rape of women in Bosnia and Herzegovina.

In peacekeeping efforts in Somalia, the Council adopted six resolutions. It requested that the Secretary General take action to increase humanitarian assistance, seek a cessation of hostilities, and assist in a political settlement. It also decided all states should implement a general and complete embargo on shipment of weapons and military equipment. It established a UN Operation in Somalia (UNOSOM), including a security force, urged Somali parties to convene a national reconciliation conference, endorsed the Secretary General's recommendation that action should be taken, under Chapter VII of the UN Charter, to establish a secure environment for humanitarian relief operations, welcomed the U.S. offer to establish an operation to create such a secure environment, welcomed contributions from other countries, and established a fund through which cash and in kind contributions could be channelled to support the U.S.- led operation.

In other peacekeeping efforts in Africa, the Security Council adopted three resolutions on Angola, approving a plan for UN observation of elections and enlarging the UN peacekeeping force there. In a resolution on Liberia, it supported the efforts of ECOWAS to restore peace there and requested that the Secretary General dispatch a special representative. In two resolutions, it condemned the destruction of Pan American and UTA flights, urged Libyan cooperation in establishing responsibility for these terrorist acts, and adopted sanctions on air traffic to and from Libya. In two resolutions on Mozambique, the Council approved the Secretary General's appointment of a special representative and dispatch of a team of military observers to that country, and it established a UN Operation in Mozambique and endorsed the Secretary General's timetable for the electoral process there. The Council, in one resolution on South Africa, invited the Secretary General to appoint a special representative to undertake discussions with the parties and to recommend measures to end the violence and lead to a peaceful transition to a democratic, non-racial government. In another resolution, it authorized the deployment of UN observers to South Africa.

In two resolutions on peacekeeping efforts in Central America, the Council enlarged the mandate of the UN Observer Mission in El Salvador (ONUSAL) to include verification and monitoring of the agreements on a ceasefire and establishment of a national civil police.

In Asia, the Council -- in five resolutions -- expanded the mandate of the advance mission in Cambodia to include mine clearance, and established a transitional authority (UNTAC) to arrange and monitor elections, demobilize forces, and destroy weapons. UNTAC, the largest peacekeeping operation in UN history, is part of a plan to oversee Cambodia's peaceful transition to democracy. In five resolutions on Cyprus, the Council reaffirmed its position that a settlement must be based on a state with a single sovereignty and comprising two politically equal communities, endorsed the set of ideas in the Secretary General's report on Cyprus as a basis for reaching an overall agreement, urged the two sides to adopt a series of confidence-building measures, and reaffirmed that the Secretary General should chair a high-level meeting at the conclusion of face-to-face talks. The Council also extended the mandate of the UNFICYP peacekeeping operation on Cyprus.

In the Middle East, the Council continued to monitor implementation of resolutions adopted in 1990-1991, especially those on elimination of Iraq's weapons of mass destruction and the Iraq-Kuwait boundary. It recognized and endorsed the work of the commission demarcating the Iraq-Kuwait land boundary in one resolution adopted in 1992; in another, it established an escrow account into which certain frozen overseas Iraqi assets could be deposited for payment of expenses related to the implementation of several Council resolutions. The Council received two high-level Iraqi delegations, both led by Deputy Prime Minister Tariq Aziz, in public sessions in March and November to hear Iraqi views on compliance with the Council's resolutions. The Council in January condemned Israel's decision to resume deportations of Palestinian civilians, and in December condemned Israel's deportation of hundreds of them. It renewed the mandates of the UNIFIL and UNDOF peacekeeping operations.

The Council held an unprecedented summit meeting in January in which heads of state or government of 13 of the 15 members considered the responsibility of the Council in maintaining international peace and security. The Council requested at the meeting that the Secretary General present a plan for enhancing the UN's capacity for preventive diplomacy, peace-making, and peacekeeping following the Cold War. The Secretary General presented his report, the Agenda for Peace, in June.

In sum, the Council adopted all 74 resolutions considered in 1992, 64 of them unanimously. This total of 74 resolutions exceeded the previous high of 42 set in 1991, and marks only the third time in Council history that it has adopted as many as 30 resolutions. For the second consecutive year, there were no vetoes cast in the Security Council. Moreover, no negative votes were cast against any of the 74 resolutions. It is only the eighth time in the 47-year history of the Security Council that a calendar year has elapsed without a veto.

The Security Council voted four times in 1992 under the provisional rules of procedure on requests to permit PLO representatives to participate in Council debates (January 6, April 4, November 13, December 18). The United States opposed all four requests, citing Rule 39 of the rules of procedure, under which observers do not have the right to speak except when a request is made on the observer's behalf by a member state. Each request, procedurally not subject to veto, was approved by a vote of 10-1(US)-4, with Belgium, France, Hungary and the United Kingdom abstaining.

In addition to the record number of resolutions adopted by the Security Council in 1992, the Council President issued 89 consensus statements during the year. This is far more than the 27 issued in 1991 and by far the largest number of such statements issued in a year. All were endorsed by the United States. By subject: Iraq, 19; the former Yugoslavia, 15; admission of new UN members, 13; Middle East and Angola, 6 each; the Secretary General's Agenda for Peace, 4; and from one to three each on security for UN peacekeeping personnel, Afghanistan, Cambodia, Cyprus, El Salvador, Georgia, Liberia, Libya, Mozambique, Nagorno-Karabakh, Somalia, South Africa, Tajikistan, and Western Sahara.

ANGOLA

tions to support the elections; and urges establishment of a precise timetable for the elections.

The U.S. supported the resolution, commending the Secretariat for putting together a plan for UN monitoring of elections. The U.S. Representative expressed gratification with the accomplishments made toward peace and democratic rule, but he cautioned that they will mean little unless there are free and fair multi-party elections in September. The responsibility for elections he said, rests with the Angolans.

S/Res/785

October 30

15(US)-0-0

Extends the mandate of UNAVEM II for an interim period to November 30, 1992; requests that the Secretary General submit by November 30 a report on the situation in Angola, with recommendations on the mandate and strength of UNAVEM II; condemns resumption of hostilities and demands that it stop; supports the statement by the Secretary General's Special Representative certifying that the September 29-30 elections were generally free and fair and calls upon UNITA and others to respect the results of the elections; calls upon the parties to abide by all commitments entered into under the "Acordos de Paz," in particular with regard to confinement of their troops and collection of their weapons, demobilization, and formation of a unified national armed force; and urges the leaders of the two parties to engage in a dialogue without delay so as to enable the second round of presidential elections to be held promptly.

Speaking in the Security Council debate, the U.S. Representative strongly supported the resolution, strongly deplored the renewed outbreak of hostilities, called for immediate cessation of all acts of violence and all offensive military movements, expressed deep concern about reports that UNITA was trying to extend its authority over parts of Angolan territory, and called on the parties to return troops to their barracks and resume meaningful political dialogue at the highest level.

S/Res/793

November 30

15(US)-0-0

Approves the recommendation of the Secretary General to extend the mandate of UNAVEM II for two months, to January 31, 1993; appeals to troop and policy contributing states to restore the mandated strength of UNAVEM II; demands that the Government of Angola and UNITA scrupulously observe the ceasefire and immediately stop all military confrontations; urges the two parties to demonstrate their adherence to the "Acordos de Paz" in particular with regard to confinement of their troops and collection of their weapons, demobilization, and formation of a unified national armed force; strongly appeals to the two parties to engage in a continuous and meaningful dialogue aimed at national reconciliation and at the participation of all parties in the democratic process and to agree on a clear time-table; and calls on all states to refrain from any action which could jeopardize the implementation of the "Acordos de Paz."

CAMBODIA

S/Res/728

January 8

15(US)-0-0

Approves expansion of the mandate of the UN Advance Mission in Cambodia (UNAMIC) to include training in mine clearance and initiation of a mine clearance program.

S/Res/745

February 28

15(US)-0-0

Establishes a UN Transitional Authority in Cambodia (UNTAC) for a period not to exceed 18 months; decides it is vital that elections be held by May 1993; urges complete demobilization of military forces before the elections; and urges destruction of weapons and ammunition in excess of those deemed necessary by UNTAC for maintenance of civil order and national defense, or required by the new government.

The U.S. Representative welcomed the establishment of UNTAC, describing this step as a landmark in the arduous effort to secure a comprehensive political settlement to the conflict in Cambodia and as evidence of the increasing responsibilities being assumed by the United Nations as an effective instrument for addressing regional conflicts.

S/Res/766

July 21

15(US)-0-0

Deplores continuing violations of the ceasefire and urges all parties to cease hostilities; strongly deplores the continuing refusal by one of the parties to permit the necessary deployment of all components of UNTAC; urges all states, in particular neighboring countries, to provide assistance to UNTAC; invites the Secretary General and his Special Representative to accelerate the deployment of UNTAC's civilian components, especially the component mandated to supervise or control the existing administrative structures; demands that the party that has failed so far to do so permit without delay the deployment of UNTAC and implement fully Phase II of the plan; and requests that the Secretary General and his Special Representative ensure that international assistance to the rehabilitation of Cambodia from now on benefits only the parties that are fulfilling their obligations under the Paris Agreements and cooperating fully with UNTAC.

The U.S. Representative spoke in support of the resolution, stating the U.S. regrets deeply that the Party of Democratic Kampuchea (PDK) has remained obstinate in the face of initiatives undertaken by UNTAC to meet its legitimate concerns. He said the PDK has nothing to gain -- and much to lose -- by continuing to obstruct the peace process, noting that development assistance will benefit only those parties cooperating with UNTAC.

S/Res/783

October 13

15(US)-0-0

Confirms that the electoral process shall be carried out in accordance with the timetable laid down in the implementation plan; supports the Secretary General's intentions concerning border checkpoints; deplores non-compliance of PDK with its obligations; demands that the PDK fulfill its obligations under the Paris Agreements, facilitate full deployment of UNTAC in areas under its control, and implement its obligations regarding cantonment and demobilization; demands full respect for the ceasefire; encourages the Secretary General and his Special Representative to continue their efforts to create a neutral political environment to facilitate holding of elections; and invites the Governments of Thailand and Japan to continue their efforts to find solutions to problems relating to implementation of the Paris Agreements.

S/Res/792

November 30

14(US)-0-1

Confirms that the election for a constituent assembly in Cambodia will be held not later than May 1993; calls upon all Cambodian parties to cooperate fully with UNTAC to create a neutral political environment for the conduct of free and fair elections; calls on the Supreme National Council to meet regularly; condemns the failure by the PDK to comply with its obligations; demands that the PDK fulfill immediately its obligations under the Paris Agreements; calls on those concerned to ensure that measures are taken to prevent the supply of petroleum products to the areas occupied by any Cambodian party not complying with the military provisions of the Paris Agreements; undertakes to consider appropriate measures to be implemented should the PDK obstruct implementation of the peace plan, such as the freezing of assets held by the PDK outside Cambodia; invites UNTAC to establish border checkpoints; supports the decision of the Supreme National Council to set a moratorium on the export of logs; requests that the Supreme National Council consider the adoption of a similar moratorium on the export of minerals and gems; and demands that all parties comply with their obligations to observe the ceasefire.

Endorses the Secretary General's report of August 21; reaffirms that a Cyprus settlement must be based on a State of Cyprus with a single sovereignty and international personality and a single citizenship, and comprising two politically equal communities in a bi-communal and bizonal federation, and that such a settlement must exclude union in whole or in part with any other country or any form of partition or secession; endorses the Set of Ideas including suggested territorial adjustments reflected in the map in the Secretary General's report as the basis for reaching an overall framework agreement; agrees that the Set of Ideas as an integrated whole has now been sufficiently developed to enable the two sides to reach an overall agreement; calls on the parties to manifest the necessary political will for resolving the issues covered in the Secretary General's report; urges the parties to pursue uninterrupted negotiations until an overall framework agreement is reached; reaffirms its position that the Secretary General convene, following the satisfactory conclusion of the face-to-face talks, a high-level international meeting chaired by him to conclude an overall framework agreement, in which the two communities and Greece and Turkey would participate; expresses the expectation that an overall framework agreement will be concluded in 1992 and that 1993 will be the transitional period during which the measures set out in the annex to the Set of Ideas will be implemented; and reaffirms that the present status quo is not acceptable, and should an agreement not emerge from the talks that will reconvene in October, calls on the Secretary General to identify the reasons for the failure and to recommend to the Council alternative courses of action.

IRAQ

S/Res/773

August 26

14(US)-0-1

Welcomes the demarcation decisions of the UN Iraq-Kuwait Boundary Demarcation Commission; welcomes the Commission's decision to consider the eastern section of the boundary, which includes the offshore boundary, and urges the Commission to demarcate this part of the boundary as soon as possible and thus complete its work; underlines the Security Council's guarantee of the inviolability of the Iraq-Kuwait boundary and its decision to take all necessary measures to that end, in accordance with para 4 of resolution 687; and welcomes the Secretary General's intention to carry out the realignment of the demilitarized zone to correspond to the international boundary demarcated by the Commission, with the consequent removal of the Iraqi police posts.

The U.S. cosponsored this resolution. Following its adoption, the U.S. Representative said the U.S. strongly supports the resolution and notes that the demarcation process is simply the technical task of demarcating the precise coordinates of the boundary, not a reallocation of territory. He said the U.S. looks forward to realignment of the demilitarized zone at the earliest practicable time, with removal of Iraqi police posts in Kuwait. He said the U.S. joins other Security Council members in reiterating support for the inviolability of the boundary being demarcated. Ecuador abstained on the vote.

S/Res/778

October 2

14(US)-0-1

Decides that all states in which there are funds of the Government of Iraq that represent the proceeds of sale of Iraqi petroleum paid for on or after August 6, 1990, shall transfer those funds to the escrow account provided for in resolutions 706 and 712 of 1991, up to $200 million or 50 percent of the total funds applicable, excluding funds already released to claimants or required to satisfy rights of third parties prior to adoption of this resolution; decides that all states shall arrange for sale of Iraqi petroleum at fair market value and transfer the proceeds to the escrow account; urges all states to contribute funds from other sources to the escrow account; requests that the Secretary General (1) ascertain the whereabouts and amounts of said petroleum products, (2) ascertain the costs of UN activities concerning elimination of weapons of mass destruction, provision of humanitarian relief in Iraq, and other UN operations in Iraq, and (3) transfer part of the funds received to the Compensation Fund, and use the remainder for costs of UN activities in Iraq; decides that proceeds of oil sales permitted in resolutions 706 and 712 of 1991 shall be transferred to the accounts of states from which funds had been provided in accordance with the above terms of this resolution to the extent required to replace in full the amounts so provided, plus interest; and decides the operation of this resolution shall have no effect on rights, debts and claims existing with respect to funds prior to their transfer to the escrow account.

The United States cosponsored this resolution. In an explanation of vote, the U.S. representative said that this resolution was a reasonable and proportionate response to Iraq's intransigence, that it was based on the unique situation created by Iraq's invasion of Kuwait, and that it borrows Iraqi assets to meet the requirements of prior resolutions, including for humanitarian efforts that directly benefit the Iraqi people. China abstained on the vote.

LIBERIA

S/Res/788

November 19

15(US)-0-0

Commends ECOWAS for its efforts to restore peace, security and stability in Liberia; reaffirms its belief that the Yamoussoukro IV Accord offers the best framework for a peaceful resolution of the conflict by creating the necessary conditions for free and fair elections; condemns violation of the ceasefire of November 28, 1990; condemns the continuing armed attacks against the peacekeeping forces of ECOWAS by one of the parties; calls upon all parties to respect the provisions of international humanitarian law; calls upon all parties to implement the ceasefire and various accords of the peace process; requests that the Secretary General urgently dispatch a Special Representative to Liberia to evaluate the situation, and report to the Security Council with any recommendations he may wish to make; decides, under Chapter VII of the UN Charter, that all states shall immediately implement a general and complete embargo on weapons and military equipment to Liberia, excluding the ECOWAS peacekeeping force; and calls on member states to refrain from taking any action inimical to the peace process.

The U.S. Representative, during the debate, articulated U.S. objectives in Liberia: a negotiated settlement under the leadership of ECOWAS, full disarmament of warring factions, return of displaced Liberians, free and fair internationally monitored elections, and establishment of a unified government based on respect for human rights and democratic principles. He urged an end to military attacks, and a return to a negotiated settlement. He praised the ECOWAS peacekeeping effort, promised continued support, and said the U.S. stands ready both to help support demobilization of Liberian factions and to help ensure that the proposed elections are genuinely free and fair.

LIBYA

S/Res/731

January 21

15(US)-0-0

Condemns the destruction of Pan American flight 103 and UTA flight 772; strongly deplores the fact that the Libyan Government has not yet responded effectively to requests to cooperate fully in establishing responsibility for these terrorist acts; and urges Libya to provide a full and effective response to those requests.

The U.S. cosponsored this resolution. In a statement after the vote, the U.S. Representative said the Security Council had responded in a careful and prudent manner to a unique situation involving clear implications of state-sponsored terrorist attacks on civil aviation. The resolution, he said, makes it clear that a state cannot seek to hide support for international terrorism behind traditional principles of international law and state practice, nor will the international community tolerate such terrorist conduct.

S/Res/748

March 31

10(US)-0-5

Decides all states should adopt sanctions against Libya: (1) deny permission to any aircraft to take off from, land in or overfly their territory if it is destined to land in or has taken off from Libya; (2) prohibit supply of any aircraft or components to Libya; (3) prohibit provision of weapons and ammunition to Libya; (4) withdraw officials present in Libya to advise on military matters; (5) reduce the number and level of staff at Libyan diplomatic and consular missions and restrict or control the movement of remaining staff; and (6) prevent operation of all Libyan Arab Airlines offices. Also requests reports to the Secretary General by May 15, 1992, on measures taken to meet these obligations; and decides to establish a committee of the Security Council to monitor and report on implementation of sanctions.

The U.S. Representative spoke in support of the resolution, stating that evidence of Libya's involvement in acts of terrorism against civilian airliners fully justified the adoption of measures pursuant to Chapter VII of the UN Charter. He described the measured, precise and limited sanctions provided for in the resolution as appropriate measures to demonstrate that the international community is prepared to back up its words in resolution 731 with action and to protect itself against a state that engages in terrorism. Cape Verde, China, India, Morocco and Zimbabwe abstained.

Strongly condemns Israel's decision to resume deportations of Palestinian civilians; reaffirms the applicability of the Fourth Geneva Convention to all Palestinian territories occupied by Israel since 1967; requests Israel refrain from further deportations; and requests Israel ensure the safe and immediate return of those deported.

The U.S. stated after the vote that it believes the deportation of individuals from the occupied territories is a violation of the Fourth Geneva Convention, that persons charged with wrongdoing should be brought before a court of law and afforded full judicial process, that it condemns the increasing attacks on Israelis just as it does those on Palestinians, and that the parties should turn to the bilateral talks to find solutions to the problems of the region. The United States clarified, as in the past, that it regards the phrase "all the Palestinian territories occupied by Israel since 1967, including Jerusalem," which appears in this resolution, as being merely demographically and geographically descriptive and not indicative of sovereignty.

Strongly condemns the action taken by Israel, the occupying power, to deport hundreds of Palestinian civilians; reaffirms the applicability of the Fourth Geneva Convention of August 12, 1949, to all the Palestinian territories occupied by Israel since 1967, including Jerusalem, and affirms that deportation of civilians constitutes a contravention of its obligations under the Convention; reaffirms also the independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity of Lebanon; demands that Israel ensure the safe and immediate return to the occupied territories of all those deported; and requests that the Secretary General consider sending a representative to the area to follow up with the Israeli Government with regard to this serious situation.

The United States, in an explanation of vote, affirmed its belief that the deportations were a contravention of the Fourth Geneva Convention, that charges of wrongdoing should be adjudged in a court of law with full judicial process, and that deportations play into the hands of those whose goal is to scuttle the peace process. The U.S. also said it equally strongly condemned the brutal murders of Israelis which preceded the deportations, and are part of a deliberate strategy to undermine the peace process. The United States clarified, as in the past, that it regards the phrase "all the Palestinian territories occupied by Israel since 1967, including Jerusalem," which appears in this resolution, as being merely demographically and geographically descriptive and not indicative of sovereignty.

The U.S. Representative said a ceasefire, a process of national reconciliation, and provision of humanitarian assistance are the primary goals of the international community in Somalia. The UN cannot monitor a ceasefire that does not exist, he said, and it cannot deliver humanitarian assistance where an active conflict is under way.

The U.S. Representative spoke in support of the resolution, stating that the measures it authorizes have the objective of achieving a secure environment for the delivery of humanitarian relief to the Somali people. He said the U.S. has no other objective, U.S. military forces would remain in Somalia no longer than is necessary, and the U.S. looks forward to the early transition to an effective UN peacekeeping force. The U.S. argued that, with the dissolution of the former Yugoslavia without agreement by the successor states on the status of the original UN seat, with none of the former republics of Yugoslavia comprising a clearly predominant portion of the original state so as to be entitled to be treated as the continuation of that state, and in the absence of agreement among the former republics on this issue, it could not accept the claim of Serbia and Montenegro to the former Yugoslavia's UN seat. China, India and Zimbabwe abstained.

The United States, which cosponsored this resolution, said it sends a clear message that those responsible for the atrocities and gross violations of international humanitarian law must be brought to justice.

ine information on implementation of the ban and to consider further enforcement measures in case of violations.

The U.S. Representative described establishment of the no-fly zone over Bosnia and Herzegovina as an important step to address the violence there. Calls upon parties in Bosnia and Herzegovina to consider the draft outline constitution as a basis for negotiating a political settlement and to continue negotiations for constitutional arrangements; reaffirms that any taking of territory by force or "ethnic cleansing" is unlawful and unacceptable, and will not be permitted to affect the outcome of negotiations, and insists displaced persons be enabled to return in peace; strongly reaffirms its call on all parties to respect the territorial integrity of Bosnia and Herzegovina; condemns the refusal of all parties, in particular the Bosnian Serb paramilitary forces, to comply with previous resolutions; demands that outside interference cease immediately; calls upon all parties to cease hostilities; condemns all violations of international humanitarian law, including in particular "ethnic cleansing" and deliberate impeding of delivery of food and medical supplies to the civilian population, and reaffirms that those who commit or order commission of such acts will be held individually responsible; decides, acting under Chapter VII of the UN Charter, to ensure that goods transshipped through the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia are not diverted; calls upon all states to ensure that none of their exports are diverted to the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia; calls upon all states to halt all inward and outward marine shipping in order to inspect and verify cargoes and destinations; reaffirms the responsibility of riparian states to ensure that shipping on the Danube is in accordance with resolutions 713 (1991) and 757, including measures regarding halting and inspecting; considers that observers should be deployed on the borders of Bosnia and Herzegovina; calls upon donors to contribute to humanitarian relief efforts in the former Yugoslavia; and invites the Secretary General to study the possibility of safe areas for humanitarian purposes.

The United States cosponsored this resolution as a means to toughen and enforce sanctions against Serbia and Montenegro. The U.S. Representative described the resolution as a reply to those who flaunt their contempt for the will of the community of civilized nations and a response to the appeals of people whose suffering must end. China and Zimbabwe abstained.

S/Res/795

December 11

15(US)-0-0

Authorizes the Secretary General to establish an UNPROFOR presence in the former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia; and requests that the Secretary General immediately deploy the military, civil affairs, and administrative personnel recommended in his report, and deploy the police monitors immediately upon receiving the consent of the Government in the former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia to do so.

S/Res/798

December 18

15(US)-0-0

Expresses support for the initiative taken by the European Council on the rapid dispatch of a delegation to investigate reports of massive, organized and systematic detention and rape of women in Bosnia and Herzegovina; strongly condemns these acts; requests that the Secretary General support the delegation to enable it to have free and secure access to the places of detention; and invites the Secretary General to report to the Security Council on measures taken to support the delegation.

VOTING SUMMARIES

In the table below, all Security Council members have voted Yes on the 74 resolutions unless indicated in the parentheses following the "No" and "Abstain" totals. No negative votes were recorded. Abstentions were mostly on resolutions concerning Yugoslavia, but also concerning Iraq, Libya, and Cambodia.

COUNTRY	YES	NO	ABSTAIN
Austria	74	0	0
Belgium	74	0	0
Cape Verde	73	0	1 (748)
China	65	0	9 (748, 757, 770, 776, 777, 778, 781, 787, 792)
Ecuador	73	0	1 (773)
France	74	0	0
Hungary	74	0	0
India	70	0	4 (748, 770, 776, 777)

United Kingdom	74	0	0
Venezuela	74	0	0
Zimbabwe	68	0	6 (748, 757, 770, 776, 777, 787)

In the following table, Security Council votes are tabulated on the same basis as overall votes in this report for the General Assembly, and voting coincidence percentages are calculated accordingly. Because the United States voted for each resolution and no negative votes were cast, all countries recorded 100% coincidence with the United States. The countries are therefore ranked by the number of identical votes, and alphabetically when the number of votes is the same. It should be noted that group dynamics in the Security Council, whose fifteen members frequently consult closely on issues before resolutions are presented for adoption, are quite different from those in the General Assembly.

VI: COUNTRY LISTINGS

The United Nations gained 13 new members in 1992, raising total UN membership to 179. The new members are nine former constituent republics of the Soviet Union: Armenia, Azerbaijan, Georgia, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Moldova, Tajikistan, Turkmenistan, and Uzbekistan; three former constituent republics of Yugoslavia: Bosnia and Herzegovina, Croatia, and Slovenia; and San Marino.

The former Soviet Union or U.S.S.R. was disbanded and its seats in the General Assembly and Security Council assumed by the Russian Federation in December 1991; it is listed here as Russia. In this listing, Yugoslavia refers to the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro).

This section pulls together information contained in previous sections, and presents it by country for 178 UN members (all except the United States). Each country listing contains the following:

- Summary coincidence percentages drawn from Sections II, III, IV and, for Security Council members, Section V.
- Vote totals in the plenary and on the 16 important votes.
- Every vote on the 16 important votes (with the U.S. vote in parentheses for comparison). Symbols used here are Y=Yes, N=No, A=Abstain, and X=Absent.
- Averages on important and overall votes of the UN regional group and other major groupings to which the country belongs.
